Maps For The Serious Angler

The prime trolling area, Gary Krein (All Star Charters) says, is a sort of "J" shape, running from Duwamish Head south, across the Duwamish Waterway and the industrial dock area, and up the east (Seattle) side to about the ferry terminal. The really prime part of that area is right in front of the Duwamish Waterway, and into the Waterway a short distance.

"The bulk of the kings in this fishery are probably caught 30 to 60 feet deep, and maybe as far down as 90 if the traffic is heavy," Krein says. "They do feed at times, so watch your sounder and if you happen to see a concentration of bait, it's worthwhile to go down and fish it."
